TUTORING

ADULT LEARNING

SENIORS

Many Seniors are uncomfortable with the computer. They hear of computer hackers, identify thieves, and predators and instantly become technophobic and cautious, with good cause.

But for Seniors, the computer offers a variety of benefits seldom explored. For instance; learning games can enhance not only ones intellect and social skills, but also ones health. Constantly pointing and clicking can do wonders for an arthritic hand. E-mailing and keeping close to family and friends almost always has a positive outcome for seniors.

We teach basic skills coupled with information on how you can protect yourself when you are online.

TUTORING

At Monroe Langston, we have experienced tutors on hand to assist any rising scholar with core subjects. Tutors are experienced in teaching from pre-school through High School.

Skills such as reading comprehension and basic math are emphasized.

Monroe Langston prides itself with having tutored students who have become salutatorians, high honor roll, and honor roll achievers.

In this ever changing world of ours, we are constantly having to re-invent,

re-learn and re-educate.

Learning the most common features of Excel, Access or Word can go a long way in the workplace. Effectively applying Outlook and Publisher software skills can make a difference between employment and unemployment. Your knowledge is your door to success.

Lets Start Now!

Learning can be fun and exciting. Frustration and defeat does not have to be the norm when learning and understanding new technology.

With hands on games and exercises, we sail through the maze of practical skills needed in the workplace and in the classroom.

When you learn a little, you learn a lot, and the more you learn, the more you know. Monroe Langston can help you learn and know more about the technology in your life.
